General remark: when there is a stroke in the column 4 (reference of the superseded standard), it means that the referenced standard may not be used without amendment or particular part for EMC purpose.

Note 1: Generally the date of cessation of presumption of conformity will be the date of withdrawal (dow), set by the European standardisation organisation, but attention of users of these standards is drawn to the fact that in certain exceptional cases this can be otherwise.

Note 2.1: The new (or amended) standard has the same scope as the superseded standard. On the date stated, the superseded standard ceases to give presumption of conformity with the essential requirements of the Directive.

Note 2.2: The new standard has a broader scope than the superseded standard. On the date stated the superseded standard ceases to give presumption of conformity with the essential requirements of the Directive.

Note 2.3: The new standard has a narrower scope than the superseded standard. On the date stated the (partially) superseded standard ceases to give presumption of conformity with the essential requirements of the directive for those products that fall within the scope of the new standard. Presumption of conformity with the essential requirements of the directive for products that still fall within the scope of the (partially) superseded standard, but that do not fall within the scope of the new standard, is unaffected.

Note 3: In case of amendments, the referenced standard is EN CCCCC:YYYY, its previous amendments, if any, and the new, quoted amendment. The superseded standard (column 4) therefore consists of EN CCCCC:YYYY and its previous amendments, if any, but without the new quoted amendment. On the date stated, the superseded standard ceases to give presumption of conformity with the essential requirements of the Directive.

Example: For EN 55013:1990, the following applies:

Note 6: EN 60947-1:1999 does not give presumption of conformity without another part of the standard.

Note 7: EN 60730-1:2000 does not give presumption of conformity without another part of the standard.

Note 8: EN 55012 is applicable for giving presumption of conformity under Directive 89/336/EEC for those vehicles, boats and internal combustion engine-driven devices that are not within the scope of Directives 95/54/EC, 97/24/EC or 2000/2/EC.
